IN the opinion of FINRA.
- Primarily for US markets...

Trading Halts to Allow the Market to Digest New Company Information

When a company is listed on a U.S. stock exchange, including NYSE, NYSE MKT, NYSE Arca, the NASDAQ Stock Market and the BATS Exchange, it agrees to notify the listing exchange about any corporate developments that could affect trading activity in its stock—before announcing them to the public. These developments can include:

- changes related to the financial health of the company;
- major corporate transactions like restructurings or mergers;
- significant positive or negative information about its products;
- changes in key management individuals; and
- legal or regulatory developments that affect the company’s ability to conduct business.

For their part, the listing U.S. stock exchanges have the authority to halt trading based on their evaluation of a given announcement. Generally, the more likely the announcement is to affect the stock price, whether positively or negatively, the more likely the exchange is to call for a trading halt pending dissemination of news by the issuer. An exchange can also halt trading after news affecting the company has been released. This could happen when the company releases information without notifying the exchange in advance—or when another company announces an unsolicited tender offer for the company whose stock is now subject to the trading halt. In very rare instances, an exchange may choose to halt trading when, regardless of the timing of any announcement, a high-impact event outside the company’s control occurs—such as an unforeseen natural disaster or a significant market disruption—that can affect trading in a stock.

These temporary trading interruptions, also known as regulatory halts, tend to be relatively short and are designed to allow prompt and full dissemination of the news to the marketplace at large.

To whom this may concern,

Despite the breach USC code 18.2, 18.3, 18.4, 18.21, 18.215, 18.225 - do the counselors of Sullivan Properties also get charged concurrent sentences like the counselors of Bernie Madoff? How do I go about insuring those assets of mine which have NOT been returned as of current? I will not pursue the FDIC for my money, however other may, as they have reported both vacancies and a growth +/- while considering the 10 years prior did represent YoY changes which do not represent a natural INN-Lease, as those would be linear. About MY deposit: My Deposit is being held at a bank that is, per FDIC guidelines, holding unlawful assets in custody

- as none of the properties in LOAN 50074 to State Farm Bank, FSB

have a certificate of occupancy.

Hence, my concern is not only what happens to my rent and security deposit being held on deposit illegally at JP Morgan Chase Bank, but how many other Loans does State Farm have that are undisclosed, notwithstanding the legal matter of NYSCEF 153974_2020.

Dear BO DINCER,

Thank you for contacting the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

Your inquiry was received by the FDIC on June 21, 2022. Your case number is: 01413744. The FDIC will respond to your inquiry within 14 calendar days.

The FDIC insures deposits held at member banks located in the United States. The FDIC protects depositors against the loss of their deposits if an FDIC-insured bank fails. FDIC insurance is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States government. Since the FDIC began operations in 1934, no depositor has ever lost a penny of FDIC-insured deposits.

Your deposit insurance question will be answered by appropriate FDIC staff in accordance with the timelines referenced above. You may be contacted by an FDIC Subject Matter Expert for additional information if needed to respond fully to your inquiry.

While we prepare a response to your question, you may visit the FDIC’s deposit insurance homepage, where you can find the "Your Insured Deposits" brochure (a Comprehensive Guide) which explains in detail all of the deposit insurance ownership categories.

You can also visit the Electronic Deposit Insurance Estimator or "EDIE", which allows you to calculate the insurance coverage of your accounts and clearly states if your deposits are fully insured. Also available are "Deposit Insurance Videos" that are helpful in answering your insurance questions. These and other deposit insurance resources, can be accessed directly by clicking the following link: <https://www.fdic.gov/resources/deposit-insurance/>

You may also contact the FDIC’s Call Center at 1-877-ASK-FDIC (1-877-275-3342).
